Member Spotlight: Matias Piana

For our Member Spotlight, Matias Piana took the time to speak with Nicole Little, Comunications Committee Member, sharing his unique perspective and professional journey within the staffing industry. As a Sales Executive at PeopleShare, Matias's approach is rooted in relationship-building and genuine partnership, values that resonate deeply with the HR community.

In his current role, Matias partners with organizations to support their temporary staffing needs, focusing on understanding operational challenges and providing meaningful, ongoing support. He views his work as closely aligned with HR, staying informed on industry trends and regulatory changes to better serve his clients. His commitment to being a true partner—not just a staffing provider—has helped him foster trust and connection with the organizations he supports.

Over the past year, Matias has experienced significant growth, expanding his expertise across a wide range of roles, from warehouse and administrative positions to specialized functions. This growth has made him a more well-rounded resource for his clients. His involvement with the HRPCPA community has been instrumental, offering opportunities for both professional and personal development.

A highlight for Matias was his first HRPCPA meeting, where a simple act of inclusion—ensuring every attendee had a seat—demonstrated the community's genuine care and support. This moment reinforced his belief that HRPCPA is more than a professional association; it's a people-centered network where respect and kindness are at the forefront.

Outside of work, Matias enjoys hiking and exploring new restaurants, with Harvest Grille's seasonal menu being a favorite. Born in Argentina and raised in the United States, he also served in the U.S. Marine Corps, an experience that shaped his servant-leader philosophy. His advice to those entering HR: focus on building authentic relationships, listen deeply, and lead with empathy.
